EYE-SIGHT.

NOTICE.

MR. N. LAZARUS, Oculist-Optician, of LONDON and CALCUTTA, may be consulted for SPECTACLES at the HONGKONG HOTEL (Room No. 139).

FOR A FEW DAYS ONLY.

A great proportion of catarrhs and diseases affecting those advancing in life occur to those having some deficiency in the construction of the eye—the many years of "Eye Strain" ending in serious forms of disease. Glasses specially adapted in youth to those requiring them save and preserve the sight. Constantly recurring headaches, spells of dimness when reading, weak eyes, the letters running together; any of these symptoms indicate a deficiency in the form of the eye requiring Glasses only to correct and cure.

Mr. LAZARUS supplies his SPECTACLES only after testing the sight.

REUTERS' MESSAGE.

THE REVIVAL OF BUSINESS IN THE UNITED STATES.

LONDON, November 9th.

Since Mr. McKinley's election many factories are working overtime; mills employing 100,000 men have been re-opened, and a marked increased demand exists for wool and cotton.

LOCAL AND GENERAL.

LATEST news from Bombay states that the plague is dying out there, as well as in Calcutta. It has been decided to send a team of Australian fishermen to England in April next. South Australians will be included.

THE Eastern Telegraph Company on Nov. 2nd paid interest for the half year ending Oct. 31st on their 4 per cent. Mortgage Debenture stock.

THE Memnon brought here this morning from Sandakan six lepers (Chinese) in charge of two members of the Sandakan Police Force. They have been passed on to the Lepers Asylum at Canton.

THE Wharf and Godown Company are exceedingly busy, all their wharves being occupied and necessitating the shuttling out of several ships, including the Radnorshire and the ever-popular "ocean greyhound" Memnon.

ACCORDING to latest advices from Java (29th October) a prolonged drought had done considerable damage to the crops in several provinces. Coffee, sugar-cane, tea, and rice crops were suffering severely from lack of rain.

SPEAKING of German colonization schemes the Emperor William is reported to have declared that the present generation will not see the German colonies a success, and admits that his enthusiasm on the subject is now exhausted.

We now hear that Mr. W. H. Elton, chaplain of Sandakan, North Borneo, has been obliged to postpone his visit to Hongkong until the early part of next year owing to press of work in connection with the new church now in course of erection.

INSPECTOR MANN, armed with a search warrant, last evening visited No. 24, Jardine's Bazaar, and seized about 12 cartons of native spirits. Two Chinese were arrested in connection with the matter and were before Capt. Hastings to-day, when a fine of $50 each was imposed, in default three months' gaol.

MESSRS. MILLER & Co. notify that, owing to the late arrival of the Company's chartered steamer Daphne from Japan, the departure of the N.D.L. liner Prinzess, for Europe, cannot be effected till to-night. Passengers are requested to be on board not later than 9 o'clock this evening.

It is reported that a German electrician has invented an apparatus called an "Automatische Pfegeleisplattenbrennvorrichtung" which, being interpreted, means a "cut-out," i.e. one of those devices employed to disconnect electric lamps or other apparatus from the circuit when the current is too strong for them.

It is stated in an Australian Press despatch, dated London, October 21st, that on Trafalgar Day "wreaths to be placed on the Nelson monument in Trafalgar Square were sent from Hongkong and Toronto." This is the first we've heard of Hongkong sending a wreath. We hope it is true, for, as we were prevented from duly celebrating the day here, so should have been done, the least that could be done under the circumstances was to send a wreath.

SHOCKING accounts of the havoc among cattle herds and grain crops in South Australia, through long-continued drought, were received by the Atlas this afternoon. The wheat crops have suffered irreparable damage; cattle are dying from starvation on many of the great stations, and in many cases cattle are turned loose over hundreds of acres of wheat crops because the latter are past redemption and the former are dying through starvation.

LATEST news from Borneo is to the effect that the notorious Mat Saleh is still at large roaming over the jungles of Borneo, in spite of the reward offered for his head and the efforts of the various expeditions sent to catch him. Those of our readers who have seen a Bornean jungle will fully appreciate the difficulty of pursuing fugitives through the forest where all the advantage lies on the side of the smallest party. Had a couple of Dyaks been sent in pursuit of Mat Saleh, instead of an expedition, the probability is that the reward would have been earned long ago.

THE fourth "shoot" for the rifle presented by Capt. McCallum to the Field Battery took place on Saturday. There was a very strong wind and a party glare, in consequence of which the scores were under the average. Sergt. McPhail was again the winner, putting on a "possible" at 400 yards. The best scores were as under—

Sergt. McPhail... 23 35 28 93

OUR Canton correspondent reports that the new Viceroy is bitterly hated by the masses; that he moves and muddles up official business; is firm where he should be easy, and exhibits ferocity when he should exercise discretion and tact. Large quantities of arms and ammunition are said to be pouring into Kwangtung and Kwangsi provinces through every available channel and the Viceroy is reported to be very uneasy because he has reason to believe the secret societies are very active throughout South China. It appears, in fact, that there is every prospect of the masses rising in the southern provinces in the near future and to such a determined manner that the insurrection will not be easily suppressed.

THE Po Leung Kak's new Home will be formally opened on Friday at 3.30 p.m. by His Excellency the Governor.

A GAMBLING case was called on before Capt. Hastings at the Magistracy to-day and remanded till Monday. This is the Gough Street case, where one of the gamblers received fatal injuries through falling from a balcony when attempting to escape arrest.

At last! The Chamber of Commerce has been notified by the Colonial Secretary that the Netherlands-India Government has rescinded the Quarantine Regulations imposed on vessels arriving at Netherlands-India ports from Hongkong and Canton.

SHING Tao-tai otherwise "Sheng Ching-ching," i.e. "the Court officer Sheng," was expected to leave Peking on the 4th instant, on route to Weichang, his present post as Director-General of the Hanyang Iron Works and coal mines of Hopei. Sheng will probably spend the winter months in Weichang.

On the 26th ultimo it was reported in Sydney that the mission steamer Daypring is a total wreck on a reef off the north-east coast of New Caledonia. Six of her crew are missing. The Daypring was a new steamer belonging to the Presbyterian Mission and she was bound from Sydney to the Hebrides.

In reference to H.E. Li Hung-chang's alleged trespassing in the grounds of the Yuenmingyuen palace, the Board of Civil Appointments has reported that the proper penalty is the entire loss of all rank and titles, but the Emperor has mercifully commuted this to the loss of one year's salary. This in Li's case amounts to the equivalent of Tls. 25,000.

CAPTAIN PECHILL, King's Royal Rifle, and Captain Wigram, R.A., leave the Staff of the Viceroy of India at the end of the present season and rejoin their regiments. Lord George Murray continues on the Staff during the Calcutta season and Captains Grimston and Lord Fincastle shortly rejoin from home to replace Captains Pechill and Wigram.

At last a use appears to have been discovered for the pile of concrete blocks near new Pedder's Wharf, the sampan folk having utilized them as a recreation ground for their tows and livestock generally. Might we propose the erection of a few cattle pens and pigsties, as the rents derived therefrom might serve to defray some of the useless expense of which these blocks have been the innocent cause.

A REPORT has been received at Brisbane from Doctors Hunt and Collins, who were sent to America by the Queensland Government to investigate the tick pest. The Commissioners state that the disease which has caused such mortality among the cattle of Queensland is identical with Texas fever. In America its attacks are infrequent, and all the methods which have been adopted—medicine, inoculation, and dipping—have failed to eradicate the pest.

TO-MORROW afternoon, at Happy Valley, the Hongkong Football Club will play the Officers of the Garrison under Association rules. Club in colours; Garrison in white; kick-off at 4.40 p.m. sharp. The Club team will be composed of—

D. Wood, goal; J. R. Gillingham and T. W. Hornby, backs; H. W. Slade, F. H. Kew, and W. H. Pryce-Brown, R.M.L.I., halves; J. D. Danby, H. W. Looker (Captain), W. D. Mayson, F. B. Deacon, and G. W. Millward, forwards.

The Garrison will be represented by R. Alexander, R.B., C. Percival, R.B., A. D. Boden, R.B., J. H. Thresher, R.B., Capt. Baker Carr, R.B., E. C. Rowcroft, H.K.R., F. G. Anderson, H.K.R., A. D. H. Grayson, R.A., A. J. R. Greene, R.A., P. G. Davis, R.A., and Capt. Loveband, A.D.C.

A VERY spirited impromptu athletic entertainment took place at the Bellevue Hotel, Shanghai, on the 4th instant in the presence of about 60 spectators, when a coloured seaman from the U.S.S. Dartmouth and a blue-jacket from H.M.S. Spartan met to try conclusions for a stake of $25 aside for the best out of five rounds.

The "scrap" was held under the Marquis of Queensberry's Rules, and the gloves scaled for both men went to work most willingly from the start, but, says the China Gazette, it became very evident that the weight of the American sportsman told against the pretty style of the Spartan's representative, although it was not until the first stage of the fourth round that the Britisher retired from the fray. The naval hero, in the ring brought forth a tidy little sum for the defeated man, which was handed to him by way of a salutation.

M. SEIKINE, Prince Lobanoff's temporary successor at the Russian Foreign Office, is described as a diminutive and rather thick-set man of about sixty, with nothing remarkable in his personal appearance. One would pass him in a street without notice, but in his office or in a drawing-room the keen intelligence of his eyes, veiled by gentle good-humour, at once attracts attention. His manner is self-possessed and calm. He speaks little and uses no gestures. An excellent listener, he evidently allows no inflection of voice or change of countenance to escape unobserved. He gives the idea of a man who pursues his end with unflinching determination. It is said that he combines great erudition with an abundance of common sense. Alexander III., to whom his simple habits were particularly sympathetic, often engaged in long conversations with the Under-Secretary, and appreciated highly both his prudent counsels and his sterling probity.

A FLEETWORTH was recently taken on behalf of an American periodical, to find out the reasons why men do not go to church. One hundred were asked, and the results were as follows: Four men did not believe in a future life; six had been "churched to death" while young; three had only occasional Sundays off; and then stayed at home to care for the sick, to let the wife go to church, or to do work at home; eleven worked for railway companies, and said they had no opportunity of attending church; three street railroad men (such as in England would be called tramway men) were in the same case; two heavy stambled were specially busy on Sundays; fourteen were engaged and indifferent; thirty-seven worked in mills, foundries, and in stores long hours, and were so ground down that they had lost faith in God and in humanity; twenty professed to have had experiences which had led them to believe that churches and churchgoers were sham—Staying at home "to let the wife go" is not half bad.

In a paragraph headed "Her Majesty's Eyesight," the Medical Press and Circular says:—The fact that Frederick, Prince of Wales, the distinguished German oculist, has been to see Her Majesty has given rise to alarming rumours in Court circles, and a rumour has gained ground that an operation for cataract would shortly become imperative. We learn, on what we believe to be trustworthy authority, that there is no ground for this sinister report. Her Majesty's sight has been falling for some time past, but the diminution of visual acuity has only been, in nature and degree, what one expects to find in elderly people passim with the gradual decrease of functional activity generally. This condition implies no defect of the organ of vision beyond that which can be corrected by glasses, nor does it justify the assumption of constitutional weakness.

HISTORY IN NEGATIVES: We have received a special number of the Illustrated Times, containing an eight page serial of negatives which is devoted to a sketch of its own history (it having just attained its eightieth birthday), and part to an interesting record of the Queen's long reign. From the latter we make an extract showing that eighty years ago there were:—

No Sewing Machines.	No 30-Knot Torpedo Boats.
No Tramways.	No Free Education.
No Hansoms.	No Erection of Guns.
No Trains.	No Steam Machinery.
No Motor Cars.	No Maxim Guns.
No Locomotives.	No Steam Cans.
No Pneumatic Cycles.	No Steam Cows.
No Pneumatic Tyres.	No Lady Cyclists.
No Vehicles.	No Lady Doctors.
No Photographs.	No Lady Clerks.
No Type-Writing Machines.	No Lady Barbers.
No Electric Light.	No Lady Footballers.
No Electric Motors.	No Lady Golders.
No Pullman Car.	No Steel Steamers.
No Dining Saloon.	No Triple-Expansion Engines.
No Bicycles.	No Electric Trains.
No 60 Miles an Hour.	No Free Libraries.
No 22 Knot Steamers.	No Telephones.
	No Electric Telegraph.

What, one wonders, will the next eighty years produce? "Prevention is better than cure."

A CHINESE CREW IN COURT.

THE "MUNCHOW" AGAIN.

SAILORS WANT THEIR PAY.

At the Magistracy to-day, before Capt. Hastings, 31 Chinese members of the crew of the Chinese steamer Munchow were charged with disorderly conduct on board the vessel in Hongkong harbour.

Through Inspector Quincey, the defendants said they were not guilty of disorderly conduct, but had only demanded their wages and asked that they should be discharged at Shanghai.

Johannes Frahm, master of the vessel, deposed that the crew were not on articles but were under a verbal agreement. He engaged the sailors and the firemen were engaged before he joined. The men were engaged at $8 per month and find themselves.

His Worship: Find themselves out of $8 per month! Well, wages are lower than they are down here.

Witness, continuing, said that among the defendants were a boatman and three coolies. There was no understanding as to the verbal agreement the men were to be discharged at Shanghai. He was in the same position as the crew and had no money with which to pay them.

His Worship: Well, sell the ship's furniture; wages claims come first.

P.C. 100 explained that the Chief Justice had yesterday given judgment against the Captain. A compromise was feeding the crew.

The Captain, resuming his evidence, said the men were last paid on 1st July and had not received any money since. Owing to this they had become clamorous ever since the 1st Sept. He did his best to explain matters to them, but they did not seem to understand him. Yesterday morning they came to him and asked him to hold the police flag or they would do so. The flag was hoisted by the chief officer. The police came off and explained matters to the crew; they became quiet and the police left. Shortly after, the defendants came en masse to his cabin door. They were jumping on the deck, yelling and shouting, and repeating about cutting throats and showing knives. Witness became scared and thought they would start a mutiny

NEWS BY THE AUSTRALIAN MAIL.

LONDON, October 18th.
An extraordinary murder has been committed in Germany. Lieutenant Brusewitz was sitting in a café at Calcutta, when an engineer accidentally touched his chair. The engineer declined to apologise, whereupon Lieutenant Brusewitz placed his hands on the table and ordered the waiter to bring him a glass of wine. The waiter refused, whereupon Brusewitz then remarked that his honour was saved.

A great and enthusiastic meeting has been held in London to protest against the Armenian atrocities in Turkey. Numbers of Bishops and other religious leaders were present, as well as peers and other representative persons, and letters of sympathy were received from other prominent persons and prelates. A letter from Mr. Gladstone read to the meeting evoked tremendous enthusiasm. The meeting passed a resolution denouncing the Sultan, and appealing to the Great Powers to use every means to enforce reform in Turkey.

FIGHTING IN NORTH BORNEO.

ATTACK ON MAT SALEH'S STRONGHOLD.

We learn from a private letter to a resident of Singapore, that on the 23rd September (an auspicious date) three North Borneo officials, Messrs. Flyn, Dunlop, and Little, with their police force, attacked the fort erected by Mat Saleh, the notorious brigand, outlaw, and murderer, and compelled him and his followers to take to flight. The attacking party found this work a tough nut to crack. On one side was the river, and on the other the steep cliffs of the stockade was a ditch. The ground all round was covered with that well-known and dangerous form of obstacle known to Malays as "ranjan," these being sharp slender spikes of bamboo stuck in the ground at an angle. In spite of all caution in the advance four men were wounded by these. At the angles of the stockade were four watch-towers with thick walls and loopholes for rifle fire. In the middle stood a long barrow to accommodate the "garrison." On the night following the attack finding it too hot to stay, Mat Saleh and his people went off peacefully, leaving several dead unburied. They are now in full flight across country and 50 Dyak scouts are after them to locate their next stronghold or bring them to bay, when they can be eventually dealt with by the main body. The captured stockade was burnt. Mat Saleh lived on the superstitions of the natives and every one of his vain boasts has been destroyed without the loss of a single man; the Government since the expeditionary party came on the scene had employed active measures.—Singapore Free Press.

LATER.
The North Borneo Herald of the 1st November, received to-day by the Memnon, the following on this subject:—

Despatches from Mr. W. R. Flint commanding the expedition for the suppression of the trifling disturbances caused by Mat Saleh are to hand under date of 14th October. From these it appears that a party of British sent out from Pemantakan Lingkabau, Sarawak, reported on the 11th that a party of natives had been seen who ran away after throwing a spear at the leader of the party. A party of 20 men was then despatched under Mr. A. R. Dunlop and on the 13th he returned with 5 natives, men and women, whom it was intended to utilise as messengers to the river people to induce them to come in on the assurance of peaceful treatment.

A second party of 12 Dyaks, which had left on the 1st October, returned on the same date with definite information of Mat Saleh's whereabouts. In the house of a petty chief named Matas on the Sunsum. None of his family were with him, nor had any followers. The house was attacked, but found to be deserted, Mat Saleh having evidently got information of what was intended. A house in the same kampong, which some of his followers occupied, was then attacked and 9 of the defenders were killed. Mat Saleh had left the kampong during the night.

A number of natives have tendered their submission, and when assured that Mat Saleh, whom they accused of robbing them, was dead, could not further harm them seemed well satisfied. Some of these men were availed of to send to the chiefs on the Lingkabau, ordering them to come to the Kuala as to be beyond Mat Saleh's influence.

FRENCH TRADE WITH SOUTH CHINA.

HOW THE GOVERNMENT FOSTERS IT.

The French Government does its best to foster French trade with the South of China, as the following letter recently addressed by the Minister of Commerce and Industry to the Presidents of the French Chambers of Commerce shows:—

"Mr. President,

"As you know, the delimitation and commercial conventions signed at Peking on the 20th of June, 1895, between France and China have opened to Franco-Annamite commerce the Chinese cities of Lungchow in the province of Kiangsi, and Ningpo and Shaochow in Yunnan. Among other things, it has been agreed between the two contracting parties that the point open to commerce on the river route from Loakot to Mongtze is to be no longer Manho, but Hoken.

"Subsequently to these conventions, the Five-Like Company obtained from the Chinese Government the concession of a railway which, as it connects itself with the prolongation of our Lungchow line, will put Lungchow in direct communication with Pekingthong, that is to say, with the port of Haiphong.

"This line, the maximum time stipulated for whose completion is three years, will apparently be finished much sooner, and in any case, private enterprise should begin to employ itself at once in realising the advantages of the relations already established with Lungchow, and which must develop when the railway reaches that point.

"My department and the Colonial Office cannot do too much to draw the attention of French trade to the advantages which the Tonkin route will soon offer over any other to the commercial movement which will take the route by Pekingthong and Canton.

"The Minister of the French Republic at Peking agrees with the Colonial Minister in thinking—and this opinion is corroborated by the annexed extract from the report for 1895 of Mr. Clarke, Acting Commissioner of Chinese Customs at Lungchow—that no method to the attainment of this could be more convincing and more decisive than the establishment in Lungchow of French houses which, by conducting their traffic by Haiphong and the Tonkin route, should give to the natives the practical example without which it is not in their nature to try an experiment of this kind.

"I have the honour to beg you, Mr. President, to be good enough to make known to the manufacturers and merchants within your sphere of action, who desire to secure or extend their business relations with Southern China, the new condition of things which cannot but be profitable to our commercial interests in this part of the world, particularly if their enterprise results in putting the finishing touch to the persevering efforts which our diplomacy has achieved to assure to French commerce the advantages which flow from the Conventions of the 20th of June, 1895.

HENRY BOUCHER."

THE GOORKHA TRIBUTE MISSION OF 1895.

SHANGHAI, November 6th.

Some two months ago, we noted the arrival at Peking of the King of the Goorkhas, which is said to be the first time since the year 1816 that the mission consisted of thirty-two members including the two Envoys, one of whom has since died, and there was also a "following" of twenty odd Goorkhas, who were apparently traders who had brought their wares and merchandise to Peking for sale. After presenting to the Emperor their tribute of elephants, tigers, gold dust, and gold and silver brocade, and a letter from the King of the Goorkhas (this is the only title known to the Chinese officials), the King of the Goorkhas, who is said to be the son of the late King, was received by the Emperor and his family in the Imperial Palace. The King of the Goorkhas was then taken to the Imperial Palace and lodged at government expense ever since their arrival at the capital, and waited their way to the Lake Palace above mentioned. The official members were admitted within the walls of the sacred precincts, but the traders could only gaze into the extensive grounds from afar—at the entrance gates. Having assembled within the portals of the great Hall of the Palace, the Goorkhas presented themselves before the emperor, who was then interpreted by a member of the Superintendent to the Emperor. The Emperor had graciously given them 1,000 in silver sycee, four complete suits of fur, cotton-wadded, and gauze robes to each member of the mission, besides places of silk pongees and gauze, and Peking curio, the quantity and quality of the gifts being according to the rank of the recipients. Special carts were then ordered from the Palace to carry the presents of his Majesty the Emperor, whom only the Envoy had the honour of seeing but once and that was when he presented his Royal master's letter of allegiance upon arriving at Peking. Shortly after sending off the presents to their place of abode the Goorkhas were taken to a hall about a quarter of a mile distant from where the Emperor Kung Hsi was supposed to be seated—we say "supposed," for he was really invisible to the Goorkhas and their interpreters. There the regular three prostrations and nine bows as a token of reverential thankfulness for the gracious bounty of the Emperor of China. The act of obsequiousness, the Envoy was made to understand that he had permission to return to Nepal as soon as the necessary conveyances for his large party could be prepared by the Mongolian Superintendent.—St. John's Daily News.

NORTH BORNEO NOTES.

SANDAKAN, November 1st.

The suspension of the rice duty locally has given great satisfaction to the natives.

Mr. Penney, the Postmaster-General, returned to this post, with his bride, on the 21st ultimo.

Mr. Charles Mitchell made a handsome donation to the Church Building Fund before he returned to the Straits from Sandakan. It was the more generous as he was not asked to subscribe.

Mr. MacColloch, late of the Ramsay, and his wife, arrived by the Humbly to take up their residence in Sandakan. Mr. MacColloch will take charge of the Norman on Captain Plett's transfer to the new steamer now building.

Another marriage, that of Mr. Greig, chief engineer of the Deucalion, will shortly take place in Sandakan. We may, by the way, congratulate that gentleman on his well-earned promotion from second of the Humbly.

Past night in British North Borneo have been granted respecting the Census process of preparing the census to which much reference has recently been made in these columns.

Captain Barnett has, we hear, resigned his appointment as Commandant of the British North Borneo Constabulary. He was a man of undoubted courage and a good disciplinarian, and his resignation is a distinct loss to our limited official personnel. It is said that he will take service in South Africa.

The second annual general meeting of the Sabah Steamship Co., Ltd., was held at the Company's offices, Sandakan, on the 9th ultimo. The accounts for the year, though not quite so satisfactory as might have been anticipated, still show cause for congratulation, and it is satisfactory to note that the Company has seen its way to build a new vessel—the steamer Lagan—and a considerably larger craft than either of their present boats. She is expected to arrive here about the end of the month.

Mr. Schuck, lately in charge of the telegraph construction, tells us of a strange experience in natural history which some people would hardly credit. He says he saw recently on the Padas a very large snake coiled on a branch overhanging the river. He was on the lookout for a meal, and a crocodile quietly swimming along passed under the tree, when the snake seized him by the back. Upon this the crocodile used his best endeavours to escape, but the snake having a firm hold of the branch, would not let go, and a fair tug-of-war took place eventually resulting in the "croc" pulling the snake into him. Can any one tell us of their having observed a similar sight?—Herald.

BRITISH TRADE AND THE YELLOW RACE.

BY E. JEROME DYER.

The Times reported recently (from its Melbourne correspondent) that a Mr. Audley Coote, a recent member of the Tasmanian Parliament, had just returned from Japan, and that he was much struck with the efforts which the Japanese were making in the direction of "civilizing." In the vessel by which he arrived from Japan he was accompanied by an officer of the Japanese Intelligence Department, who was visiting Australia for the purpose of reporting to his Government upon the opening in the Colonies for Japanese products and manufactures.

The Japan Daily Advertiser of February 13th, this year, a newspaper rather antagonistic to native Japanese, had a leading article, in which the following remarkable extract appeared:—"A few months ago an American with commercial instincts arrived in Yokohama with a collection of American samples sufficient to stock a country fair. He announced that he had come to Japan to build up American trade. He did not remain long, however, and now it is advertised that he has turned up in San Francisco with a stock of samples of manufactured Japanese goods, prepared to knock out the American market. He is able, he says, to lay down all sorts of goods in California from 30 to 50 per cent. less than the same class of articles can be manufactured in America. He proclaimed that, amongst other things, he could place in San Francisco a Japanese-made bicycle as good as a high-grade American machine for £2.10s."

The same article states that the attention of the American merchants and manufacturers is being anxiously directed to the rapidly increasing imports from Japan of cotton goods, manufactured silks, rope, jute, carpets, bags, from manufactures, machinery, buttons, brushes, watches, clocks, bicycles, clothes, and rubber goods.

The Japan Mail of April this year announced that a Japanese steamship company had been promoted to start a line of steamers between Japan and Canada, and another with San Francisco. That an influx of Japanese manufactures into Canada and the States is imminent is the opinion of both the Japanese and American newspapers, so much so that early in February this year it was proposed to hold a gigantic convention in Chicago of manufacturers from all parts of the States to consider this question. Five thousand delegates were expected to attend.

What the Japanese threaten in America is just as possible, and from all appearances equally certain, to happen in Australia. But the Australian Governments do not like the prospect; so much so that last March a conference of Australian Premiers in Sydney studiously rejected the Anglo-Japanese Treaty on the grounds that "they did not consider it advisable for the Colonies to be flooded with coloured labour and cheap Japanese manufactures." But this resolution, more blunt than courteous, cannot stop the influx of the products of Japan's industries millions. The only thing that could do this, and then only partially, would be differential taxation, but that would be a grave if not an unconstitutional step.

The principal exports from Japan of those articles which affect British trade and in which there will be increasing competition from the Japanese in the Australian, Canadian, Indian and other Asiatic markets are as follows:—

Articles. £ value. $ value.

Coal 823,852 617,249

Many of these exports are, so far, insignificant in quantity, but they show a remarkable increase in the two years quoted, during which time the Japanese were preparing for, engaged in and recovering from a memorable struggle with China, in which the whole resources of the country were brought into requisition. Besides, most of these industries are only a few years' growth, and present enormous room for expansion. It is not surprising, therefore, that the Japanese are by no means restricting themselves to the manufactures in which they already do a foreign export trade. They are already manufacturing, for local supply, clocks and watches, cabinet organs and violins, scientific instruments and photographic cameras and wares, and are just to hand of the formation of a large manufacturing company.

Portentous are these newcomers into the competitive arena, are they not on a par with the element which the Chinese promise to the near future? At present this heaving mass of multi-directed industry slumbers for want of purpose and leadership, but the hundreds of thousands who have wandered into other lands have quickly developed those qualities which will make the whole race the fear and pest of future civilization. They are quietly but speedily displacing their "white brethren" in every part of the Pacific where they are permitted settlement. The majority of local industries are in their hands, and the whole trade would be theirs were they experienced in and able to undertake business relations with foreign countries. This, however, is also changing in the Java ports, Singapore, Bangkok, Hongkong, Manila, and Shanghai, and the time is not far distant when the only Europeans in these ports, and other parts of Eastern Asia, will be officials and a handful of representative agents.

This article is already far exceeding the length intended, but I would like to quote, in conclusion, the opinion on this subject of Professor Charles H. Pearson, who was a man of singularly clear judgment, gifted intellect, and depth of insight. He predicted in his "National Life and Character—A Forecast," published in 1893, the opening up and awakening of China, and the eventual supremacy, or close rivalry, as an industrial power of the Yellow Race. It may be pointed out in confirmation of this that the Japanese have already shown a striking potentiality in this direction. But Professor Pearson was in his most prophetic mood when he declared that "it was the industrial competition of the Chinese"
